Correction: Woolgatherers Report and Photos

In the Member Guild News section of yesterday's ANWG April 2022 Newsletter, photos of Lois Harvey's Tibetan coat were erroneously attributed to the wrong guild. They should have been included with the Woolgatherers report.

We regret the error.

Woolgatherers

The Woolgatherers in the Comox Valley have mostly had occasional Zoom meetings for the past two years. However, we are now back to meeting weekly on Mondays at the Merville Hall. We have dedicated one Monday per month to spinning. The Weavers study group has also started meeting offsite monthly. This year we are focusing on overshot. Some of our members have also taken on-line workshops that were available. The knitters are also meeting weekly at members' homes again.

Sheila Carey

These are photos of a Tibetan style coat made by our president Lois Harvey using handwoven materials.

“I had been wanting to create a Tibetan Coat for years so finally I had enough handwoven material to do so. The strips that make up the coat are different in their weaving patterns though similar in the fibers that I used. These include merino wool, baby alpaca, silk, and cotton. The lining is pure silk from Cambodia that was handwoven as well. I realized that the coat would be rather bland without some decoration so I wove part of the upper back and front panels in plain weave so that I could make cross stitch butterflies and designs to add colour. The cross stitch took longer to complete than making the actual coat.”
